

Social and Personal

MISS CONWAY FLEMING'S bow to society was made last evening at a very lovely ball given at the Masonic Temple. About 225 members of the younger society and work included in the invitations, and the affair was a very brilliant one. The ball room was hung with a drapery of trailing vines and pink blossoms, and the lights were shaded in pink. Palms and smilax hid the orchestra, and bay trees and palms and a table heaped with the bouquets sent to the debutante formed a background for the receiving party. Pink chrysanthemums were arranged in wicker pedestals and the gallery was hung with a garland of pink flowers and smilax. The foyer was also arranged with pink flowers, tables and sofas, while palms and bay trees were banded in the corners. In the supper room the same color scheme of pink and green prevailed, and the debutante table was placed in the center of the room and decorated with a big basket of Killarney roses. The handles of the basket were caught with gauze ribbon and a spray of pink flowers, the candles being shaded in rose color. The other tables were arranged with vases of pink roses and candles with pink and silver shades.

Mrs. Warner Lewis Fleming introduced her daughter to society. Mrs. Fleming wore a handsome gown of black crepe meteor with an overdress of spangled net, trimmed in real lace. She wore pearls, and carried a bouquet of gardenias. Miss Fleming, who is one of the loveliest young girls in society this winter, wore a gown of white crepe meteor, trimmed in silver and pearls, and carried an old-fashioned nosegay of pink roses and streamers of pink tulle and chiffon. Receiving with Mrs. Fleming and her daughter were Peyton Fleming and Mr. and Mrs. De Armond, of Philadelphia. Mrs. De Armond wore a gown of pale blue broad satin, with a bouquet of orchids.

Just before supper Colonel Jo Lane Stern led a very attractive figure with American Beauty roses as favors. Miss Wadley's wedding.

Miss Wadley's wedding. The bride wore a gown of white crepe meteor, trimmed in silver and pearls, and carried an old-fashioned nosegay of pink roses and streamers of pink tulle and chiffon. Receiving with Mrs. Fleming and her daughter were Peyton Fleming and Mr. and Mrs. De Armond, of Philadelphia. Mrs. De Armond wore a gown of pale blue broad satin, with a bouquet of orchids.

mina Wadley, will become the bride of Captain Charles Arthur Robertson, first-first K. O. G. Pioneer. The wedding will be celebrated this evening at 6 o'clock with only a few intimate friends and the family of the bride and groom present. Rev. J. Y. Bowman will perform the ceremony. Pink roses and smilax hid the altar, and the bride and groom were seated in the long drawing room, where the ceremony takes place, candles and lovely white blossoms will be used. In the hall and dining room garlands of pink and white flowers will be used. The bride's gown is a lovely creation of ivory charmeuse, embroidered in seed pearls, with insets of duchess lace. Her hair of illusion will be arranged with a big basket of Killarney roses, and she will carry a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and white orchids. Albert W. Wadley will give his sister away. Miss Wadley will be attended by her two sisters, Misses Margaret and Carrie L. Wadley, as maids of honor. They will wear quaint gowns of pale blue satin, made with an overdress of lace, and will carry bouquets of Killarney roses. Irving Robertson, a cousin of the groom, will act as best man. Little Mary Wise and Aubrey Boxley, in white costumes, will hold the ribbons.

A reception will follow the ceremony at 7 o'clock, after which Captain Robertson and his bride will go to London for their honeymoon. After spending some time on the continent they will sail for India, where Captain Robertson is stationed. The groom is a son of the late Heston Sinclair Robertson, and is a nephew of J. Ross Robertson, of Toronto. Miss Wadley is a daughter of the late Everett Wadley, who was one of the leading business men of Richmond.

Out-of-town guests will be J. Ross Robertson, Mrs. A. J. Robertson, Mrs. J. Sinclair Robertson, Irving Robertson, all of Toronto, Canada; Mrs. C. E. Southworth, of Raleigh, N. C.; Mrs. Cornelia Southworth, of Baltimore, N. Y.; Mrs. Addison McKay, Miss Gertrude Konkin, of Stearns; Miss W. B. Boxley, of Roanoke.

Invitations have been issued by Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Howell Agnew for the marriage of their daughter, Elizabeth, to Dr. Herbert Mann, of this city, the ceremony to take place on Saturday, December 16, at high noon, in the Church of the Incarnation, Madison Avenue and Thirty-ninth Street, New York City. Only the nearest relatives and most intimate friends of the bride and groom have been included in the invitations. A breakfast at the Hotel Manhattan will immediately follow the ceremony at half past 12 o'clock. After January 15 Dr. Mann and his bride will be at home at 814 Park Avenue.

The marriage of Miss Pearl Chadwick Heck, daughter of Mrs. J. M. Heck and the late Colonel Heck, to William Graham Clark, son of Chief Justice Walter Clark, of Raleigh, N. C., and grandson of Governor William A. Graham, will be a very fashionable and smart event in society circles of Raleigh. The ceremony, which takes place to-night at 9 o'clock at the First Baptist Church, in Raleigh, will be followed by a large reception at the home of the bride's mother. Miss Heck has several times visited here as the guest of Mrs. J. Allison Heck, and a number of Richmond people are in Raleigh to attend her wedding. Church decorations will be in palms and masses of white chrysanthemums. The altar will be arranged with white flowers, Southern smilax, and light candles. The wedding march from "Lohengrin" will be played as a procession.

The bridesmaids will include Misses Emmie Haywood, Gene Clark, Alice Aycock, Ellen Graham, of Raleigh; Mary Fry, of Greensboro, and Alston Dargatz, of Raleigh. They will wear gowns of white chiffon, made over soft white satin and trimmed in pink chrysanthemum fringe and lace, and will carry big bouquets of pink roses. Joe Graham, Will Pace, Walter Clark, Will Harris, of Fayetteville; David Mackenzie Clark, Thorne Clark, of South Carolina; Bonshall and John Clark, of Durham, will be groomsmen.

The bride will enter the church with her brother, George Heck, of New York, who will give her away. Her wedding gown is fashioned of heavy white satin, made with a court train, and is embroidered in orange blossoms. The bodice is trimmed with pearls and point and duchess lace. Her long tulle veil will be caught with orange blossoms, and she will wear a rope of white pearls and a diamond brooch, both gifts of the groom. She will carry a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley. Miss Mary Grimes Cooper, of Raleigh, will be maid of honor, and Miss Avis Walker Grant, of this city, will be first bridesmaid. They will wear similar gowns of pale pink satin, draped in pink chiffon, and will carry arm bouquets of white roses. David Clark, of Charlotte, N. C., will act as the groom's best man. Deacons for the big reception following the ceremony at the bride's home will be entirely in pink flowers. Wedding bells of green will be suspended from the ceiling, and the mantels and windows will be banded with pink roses and smilax. In the dining room a large basket of pink roses will be placed in the center of the table, and a bell of pink flowers will be hung from the chandelier, tied with large bows of pink ribbon, and streamers of smilax and pink tulle reaching to each corner of the table. An orchestra will play during the evening.

Mr. Clark and his bride will leave at once for a trip to Florida and Cuba, after which they will go to Washington to make their home.

Tea Thursday Afternoon.
A very attractive affair will be given on Thursday afternoon, December 7, from 4 to 6 o'clock at the home of Mrs. E. E. Dickinson, 2613 East Broad Street. "In the Service of the King Circle of King's Daughters will receive and holiday decorations will prevail. All friends of the circle are cordially invited to attend.

Stay at Home Whist Club.
The Stay at Home Whist Club met on Monday night at the residence of Mrs. C. W. P. Brock, 204 East Franklin Street. Four tables were engaged, and the top score was made by Mrs. Wadley and Admiral Webster. Mrs. W. W. Martin will be hostess of the club next Monday night at her home, 211 Shaffer Street.

H. Slaughter, of Hampton, entertained at a delightful dance at the Virginia Yacht Club on Saturday night. The dance was given in honor of Miss Slaughter's two cousins, the Misses Dickinson, of Richmond. Twenty-five couples were dancing, and the hall was decorated in green and pink. Mrs. Slaughter presided at the punch bowl, and the chaperones included Major and Mrs. Reese and Mrs. Berry, of Hampton. Guests from a distance present were Cadets McCue and Smith, of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute; T. J. Wood, of Richmond; Mr. Williamson, of Newport News, and Professor A. B. Connor, of Richmond.

A. P. V. A. Meeting.
The meeting of the central committee of the Association for the Preservation of Virginia Antiquities, held yesterday, was called to order by Mrs. J. Taylor Elyson at 11 A. M. in the rooms of the Virginia Historical Society. In the absence of the corresponding secretary, Mrs. St. George Bryan acted as secretary.

A letter was read from Mrs. Alice M. Tyler, in which she presents her resignation as recording secretary, which office she has filled since 1908. In presenting Mrs. Tyler's resignation the president said that she regretted that her efforts to induce her to reconsider had been unsuccessful, and she wished to express her very deep regret at the loss of such a faithful officer—one who was so long and so devotedly in the duty, willing and accommodating to an unusual degree, whose records are a marvel of neatness and accuracy, and whose taste, good judgment and discretion were never at fault. Mrs. Tyler's resignation was accepted with the deepest regret by a standing vote.

Mrs. Elyson showed a picture postcard of what is said to be the oldest brick house in Virginia. The house stands on a plantation in Surry county, owned at one time by Thomas Rolfe, son of Pocahontas. The records in the county clerk's office show that it was standing in 1653. The postcard was sent by Mrs. T. L. Holmes, a member of the association at Surry. Mrs. Elyson stated that she had appointed Mrs. Holmes a committee of one to ascertain whether the house could be secured and upon what terms. This motion was carried.

She also brought picture postcards of the John Paul Jones house, at Fredericksburg, and the bronze tablet placed on the house by the Betty Washington Lewis Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, November 25, 1908. The tablet is a fine work of art, and the great uncle served on the Bonhomme. Richard with Commodore John Paul Jones, unveiled the tablet.

An invitation was sent the president by the regent, Mrs. F. B. Goodrich, and the Fredericksburg branch of the association was invited to participate in the ceremonies. The corresponding secretary was instructed to write a letter of congratulation to the regent, Mrs. F. B. Goodrich.

Life members reported by the president were Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Corley, of this city, and Fairfax Harrison, of Belvidere, Fauquier county.

Attention was called to a newspaper notice of the ceremonies in connection with the unveiling of a "bronze tablet in tribute to John Marshall, erected by the Pennsylvania Bar Association," in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, November 25. Justice Lutton presided and unveiled the tablet, which was accepted by Judge George Gray.

Mrs. Elyson brought to the meeting the first gift received for the John Marshall memorial, a copy of the portrait by St. Memin of Thomas Marshall, chief justice of the United States. The portrait was painted after he graduated at Princeton College, N. J., when he was nineteen years old, and at the same time that St. Memin painted the portrait of John Marshall, a gift from the French government to the father, presented by Eleanor Marshall Taliaferro, daughter of Fielding Lewis Marshall, son of Thomas Marshall.

Also a silhouette after the same portrait by Miss Virginia Wood, presented by Miss Maria S. Marshall. The corresponding secretary was Dickinson—Lam.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) Lexington, Va., December 5.—The home of Mrs. John A. Womeldorf, near Lexington, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Thursday afternoon, when the bride of John Andrew Dickinson, of Millboro, the bride's pastor, Rev. Robert L. Kinnard, performed the ceremony, using the ring service. The bride entered the parlor with her brother, James Lam, who was escorted by Miss Mary A. Lam, sister of the bride. The groom was attended by W. E. Dickinson, of Millboro, his brother.

Miss Zella Pultz played the wedding march. Refreshments were served after the marriage. Mr. and Mrs. Dickinson were the recipients of many congratulations from their numerous friends. The bride and groom left for a trip. After the wedding, on Friday, they will be at home in Clifton Forge.

The bride is a daughter of the late
